WHAT HAPPENS WHEN THE PEACEKEEPER HAS HAD ENOUGH?

Violet is your typical girl next door stuck in a rut, until her life takes a turn that causes her to question everything.

J.P. met the perfect woman, or so he thought. When their paths cross in an unexpected way, he's left with more questions. But, no one has ever called him a quitter.

What Readers Are Saying

"A great contemporary romance with characters you just can't help but fall for."

"This was one of the best examples of a healthy relationship I've read in contemporary fiction in a long time."

-Goodreads Review

"The perfect balance of romance and comedy featuring characters it was impossible not to like."

Author Bio:

Terri Jones writes contemporary romance and women's fiction to inspire the imagination and provide an escape. Terri has told stories since childhood, even before she could write them down. She studied Psychology at Middle Tennessee State University and is still interested in what makes people tick. These days she explores the human psyche by writing character-driven love stories. When not writing, Terri loves hiking wooded trails around Tennessee and traveling with her boys.
